

Antelope Point Public - Open

Updated: 12/7/2016 - Elevation 3605

Antelope Point launch ramp is open.

When closed, barricades and cones were placed on the ramp indicating the closed area. Boaters continued to launch vessels on the east side of the ramp. Boaters should still be aware that while the east side of the ramp is open, launching at these water levels is not safe for all sizes of boats. Launching is at your own risk. Should the lake level drop five more feet to an approximate lake elevation of 3588 feet above sea level Antelope Point Launch Ramp will close to all launching with boat trailers.

Ramp provides good parking, loading, and a short run to the up-lake area.

The breakwater and courtesy dock offers some protection to the ramp from main channel boat traffic.

- The parking and shore fishing area are open for day use. One entrance fee payment is good for any access site on Lake Powell.

- For up-to-date information on the marina construction visit Antelope Point Holding's web site at www.azmarinas.com.

The Valet Ramp provides a good launching option for Antelope Point users.
